

List of 22 Clues for Mystery

Clue Number One

*Dottie Kennel made a cheesecake that was contaminated with peanuts.
Only one person knows how that happened.*

Clue Number Two

Everyone knows Lynn Redmond loves cheesecake, but nobody knows she recently started a diet that prohibits dairy.

Clue Number Three

I Reed Toomuch, Bruce Casket, Dottie Kennel, Brenda Buckminster, Janine Sloviniski and Jim Haymaker all know Royal Pane is deathly afraid of bees.

Clue Number Four

Except for Lynn Redmond and Jim Ziskopff, each guest had at least one glass of wine.

Clue Number Five

Thomas Butler routinely uses strychnine to kill rodents.

Clue Number Six

Royal Pane has a severe allergy.

Clue Number Seven

I Reed Toomuch, David Ross Enfelder, Vaughn Heartacher, Dottie Kennel, June Flemmagardner, Janine Sloviniski, Nikki Seelbach, Stephanie Gamby and Royal Pane each had a slice of the cheesecake.

Clue Number Eight

I Reed Toomuch has graciously agreed to fund research for optimizing a new type of synthetic bee venom. The new product will be tasteless, more potent than real bee venom and dissolves easily in water. As one of the investors, he has access to samples of the new material.

Clue Number Nine

Dottie Kennel brings a gift for her host. It's a jar of honey made with lavender from her own garden. The honey came from her own bees.

Clue Number Ten

Thomas and Evelyn Butler, I Reed Toomuch, David Ross Enfelder, Bruce Casket, Janine Sloviniski, Ricky Castelloni, Jim Haymaker and Dottie Kennel all knew Royal Pane was going to be a guest before they got to the island. The other guests did not.

Clue Number Eleven

It is well known that before Lynn Redmond eats anything, she always asks first if it contains peanuts.

Clue Number Twelve

Lynn Redmond grows a plant with poisonous leaves.

Clue Number Thirteen

Dottie Kennel and Janine Sloviniski accompanied Bruce Casket on a trip to a mystery writer's conference. During the long drive, Bruce Casket shared details about the new book that David Ross Enfelder was writing.

Clue Number Fourteen

Evelyn Butler was alone with the wine when she decanted several bottles for dinner.

Clue Number Fifteen

Janine Sloviniski is friends with a researcher on the same team that is being funded by I Reed Toomuch to develop a synthetic bee venom.

Clue Number Sixteen

Dottie Kennel is working with a partner on developing a new face cream based on bee venom.

Clue Number Seventeen

Thomas Butler, Lynn Redmond, Bruce Casket, Dottie Kennel, Brenda Buckminster, and Jim Haymaker all saw Royal Pane remove an EpiPen from his man purse, while he was looking for his cell phone.

Clue Number Eighteen

Everyone had access to the kitchen, all hours of the day or night.

Clue Number Nineteen

Lynn Redmond doesn't understand why she can't find her EpiPen. She distinctly remembers packing it before she left home.

Clue Number Twenty

David Ross Enfelder is writing a new mystery about a killer who uses a new type of synthetic bee venom as the murder weapon. While doing research, he had the opportunity to visit a lab where samples of the new bee venom were being tested. He gave copies of the second draft to Lynn Redmond and Bruce Casket for their feedback.

Clue Number Twenty One

While the guests are working in the kitchen, Royal Pane finds a jar of peanuts in the cupboard and helps himself.

Clue Number Twenty Two

Royal Pane drank a great deal of wine before he collapsed and died.

Robert and Robin Lawton, Clues for One Mystery Author Too Many